New Seminar For Your Education Community!

Extreme Behaviors in the Classroom: What to Do When Nothing Else Works

Deb's one-day seminar will help teachers and other education professionals with practical strategies that work with our most vulnerable at-risk students.

- Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorders
- Prenatal exposure to cocaine and meth
- Attention Deficit Hyperactive Disorders
- Autism Spectrum Disorders
- Behavior disorders

This workshop will bring to light the latest research on neurobehavior disorders to better understand students with difficult behavior issues. Participants will learn to recognize invisible symptoms of neurological disabilities, and will be able to apply effective intervention strategies to make their job easier and improve outcomes for the students.

To request a training, phone Deb Evensen at (907) 235-8900 or email Deb at debevensen@alaska.net with the following information:
